The company is a partner for pharmaceutical industry in health policy consultancy. They are a small consultancy company specialising in market access (pricing and reimbursement) and public affairs. The team is young, dynamic and has the ambition of making medication accessible for patients.

Top reasons why the employees love working in the company:

Variety: large portfolio of clients with products in different therapeutic areas

Innovative: they mostly work for small and medium-sized enterprises and start-up pharmaceutical companies, primarily within the innovative industry with a focus on rare diseases.

Teamwork: as a small company, they are closely involved in all projects and activities. Because of the tailor-made approach, collaboration with each client is excitingly different. In this regard, teamwork is also very important, with colleagues and with clients. We are not just looking to advise the clients, they want to work as partners.

Involvement: as a small team, they have a growth mindset with attention to talents and interests of each individual. They also love having fun and getting to know each other as a group.

Expertise: the teams blends extensive experience with youthful creativity, bringing the existing expertise to the next level.
