Our client is pushing the boundaries of science to deliver live-saving breakthrough medicines that will improve patients' lives. In that endeavor, Medical Affairs is a key strategic partner in shaping the optimal performance of the client's brands. The Medical Excellence Lead has the full accountability of driving excellence within Medical Affairs across TA's and plays a pivotal role in channeling our scientific capabilities to make more positive impact on changing patients' lives. These could include, but are not necessarily restricted to advancing customer engagement and driving medical performance as well as shaping the medical organization towards the future and implementing next generation capabilities to enable our ambition to transform care. The Medical Excellence Lead will work in close collaboration with the Medical Affairs Leads as well as the IBEX and IT team.

THE POSITION
